Copyright, 1940

The rediscovery of herbs has opened up to garden lovers a new world of forgotten delights, beloved of our great-grandmothers, reasserting their piquant charms in the modern garden. A tiny patch, or a few plants in the border, are a source of constant delight and invigoration.

Field grown aromatic herbs are grown at the Cottage Herb Farm in New England for your garden, which will be shipped to you at the proper time.
